

GREAT WEALTH IN WHEAT CROP

Utah Farmers Enjoy a Prosperous Year.

BIG YIELD AND HIGH PRICES

GOOD LOCAL EFFECT OF SHORT CROP EAST.

The Utah wheat crop of 1904 will amount to 5,000,000 bushels. This is the opinion of the best posted dealers and millers in the city. This is by far the best crop of wheat ever raised in the state, and is expected to establish the standard for many years to come. The "dry farms" have done better this year than they have done before in ten years, and this, of course, accounts for the large total yield. The abundance of rain throughout the year compared with the precipitation of other years had much to do with the good yield. The prevailing price for wheat in Salt Lake is 90 cents a bushel. Taking this as a basis, the value of the crop of this year is placed at $4,500,000, which is no insignificant item for the agriculturists of the state. The crop is the largest ever raised in Utah, and the good price offered will make it the most valuable to the farmers. A good portion of the crop will be shipped out to Colorado, Oregon, California, Nevada and other near-by states. The Utah wheat is a solid, hard wheat, and is much sought after for mixing with softer grain. This is especially true of the California grain raised by irrigation, which is very soft to be worked into flour alone.

Watch Eastern Markets.
Naturally the wheat raisers of Utah are watching closely the movement of prices in the eastern markets. They read with deep interest the reports of rust in the wheat of the central west, and the injury to the corn crop from early frosts and drought. The price of wheat in Chicago, less the cost of the freight from here to Chicago, for the reason anything that affects prices in the eastern markets affects prices here at home, and the fluctuations outside are watched closely by the Utah people.

Not in many years have there been such wide fluctuations in prices in the great grain centers as have characterized the markets in recent weeks. The cry recently of "32 wheat by May" had an interest for the local farmers, as it would mean about $1.75 for wheat in Utah. Of course, they count on such good fortune and are glad to sell at the present good prices. At the same time the local market is not flooded with new wheat, which is expected to mean that the producer is expecting a better figure than 30 cents a bushel delivered in Salt Lake.

Experts Went Wrong.
In another week the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture will issue an estimate on the wheat crop. Reports received up to this time make it certain that the government is forced to make great reductions in its estimate of the crop. Not in many years has the information collected by the government been so much at fault as was the information collected a month and two months ago in regard to the wheat crop. Even after the reports of the damage from rust had been received at the department of agriculture in Washington, reports of the damage in Minnesota and the Dakotas, the government officials kept insisting that the reports of the damage were greatly exaggerated, and that the crop would be a great one in spite of the rust. The fact that the crop is much smaller than was anticipated, and that much of the grain is of inferior quality, adds just that much to the value of the good wheat in the country.

Hill Knew the Facts.
Early in the season J. J. Hill, the railroad magnate, gave out an estimate on the wheat crop in his figures in now being demonstrated. In the Pacific northwest the crop of 1904 will be a great one, as Mr. Hill predicted. The crop farther east is vindicated in his judgment by falling far below the estimate made by the government experts and others who claimed to be in a position to know. These conflicting reports and the wide fluctuations in the quotations in the grain markets in New York, Chicago and other centers have been closely watched by the grain men of Utah and by many grain speculators in this city. The men who produce wheat on the east farms of Utah are not the only ones to profit this year by the unusual crop and the good prices for the grain. The barley crop, the oats crop and alfalfa are far above the average in quality and quantity. In addition to this the prices are ruling high for these products as well as for wheat, and for these reasons they will play no insignificant part in the prosperity of Utah for 1904.

Meeting of Produce Exchange.
At the meeting of the local produce exchange committee, business was gone over, but no changes in quotations were made. The prices are firm with the exception of new wheat, and the present outlook is that there will be a raise by the first part of next month. During the month of September over 800 carloads of new Utah wheat were shipped east and south. The quality of this year's crop is high and the demand throughout the east has been heavy. Little wheat has been shipped to California on account of the increase in freight rates. From Ogden west the rates have been raised 10 cents per hundred, making it 20 cents. Milling wheat is getting scarce and several times during the last two months old wheat has been shipped from Oregon.

Otherwise the produce is well supplied and steady and no changes in quotations are looked for.

ASSETS ARE FEW.
Chicago, Oct. 5.—P. E. Roberts, produce commission dealer, filed a petition in bankruptcy today. Liabilities were scheduled at $268,000, and assets $1,200. The failure was attributed to unsuccessful speculation.

HEATH SALOON DOING BUSINESS

Police Enjoined From Interfering With Proprietors.

BAR OPPOSITE FAIR GROUNDS

MAYOR VETOS RESOLUTION TO REMOVE LICENSE.

Heath Brothers filed a petition yesterday for a temporary injunction against Mayor Morris and Chief of Police Lynch restraining the officials from interfering with the "Heaths" liquor business opposite the entrance to the fair grounds, and ordering them to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued. Judge Morse granted the injunction late yesterday afternoon, so the saloon will be in operation until the case is heard.

The complaint states that a liquor license was procured for the Salt Palace by Heath Brothers Aug. 30, which does not expire until Nov. 22. The council, by a vote of 10 to 4, last Monday evening granted the petition to remove the bar from the Salt Palace, the season having closed there, to a place opposite the entrance to the state fair grounds. At 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the chief of police closed the bar which the Heaths had opened and has since kept a guard of patrolmen over it. The damages, the complaint states, cannot be estimated, as they never had an opportunity to sell any liquor so they cannot figure what their profits would be.

Mayor Vetoes Resolution.
Mayor Morris yesterday returned to the council without his approval of the resolution granting the petition of Heath Brothers to have their saloon license transferred from the Salt Palace to lot 2, block 64, plat C. "For the reason that it is the intention to open this saloon at, or very near the main entrance to the fair grounds, which I believe would be against public policy. Thousands of women and children would be constantly passing daily to pass this saloon and Friday, the 7th, being children's day, to bring these young people into such close proximity to a saloon would certainly be much less harmful. Hence I cannot approve your action in this case."

Court Notes.
Clerk L. P. Palmer of the supreme court is engaged in setting out a new catalogue of the state library. The copy will be in the hands of the printer next week.

Judge Hall yesterday found issue for the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in its suit over the title to some land claimed by Helen Watson. The latter will appeal. The case has been tried several times.

The suit of Daniel Densley, Jr., against John C. Sharp et al. was stricken from the calendar by Judge Hall yesterday. The case was to recover $2500 damages for damage to horses, wagons, harness and camp outfit belonging to Densley and held by the latter, $4,555.82 for the labor, expense, food and care of the horses.

In the suit of Mary Ann Green against the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-day Saints et al. Judge Hall yesterday rendered a judgment in favor of the plaintiff. Action was to enjoin the church from entering upon Mrs. Green's property, extending its waste pipe over it, or obstructing her walk. The church is next door to the Green house and the water from the church drains pipe drips upon the Green walk.

The following criminal cases were taken up by Judge Lewis yesterday: William A. Jones, grand larceny, continued until further order of the court; S. E. Williams, grand larceny, continued until Saturday, Oct. 8; A. J. Johnson, grand larceny, continued until Saturday, Oct. 8; Beverly Hest, burglary, continued until further order of the court; A. W. GOVERNMENT TO SEND FOOD

ARMY OFFICERS EXPECTED TO MAKE REPORT.

Washington, Oct. 5.—For the third consecutive winter extreme destitution prevails among the Alaskan Indians, and government help is absolutely necessary to prevent them from starvation and extermination. Lieutenant Edmunds, a retired naval officer and an expert in Alaskan matters, has been giving special attention to the condition of these Indians and has made a report to the president, which has been transmitted to the war department, setting out strongly the deplorable conditions, especially in the Copper river district of Alaska. On the strength of this report Acting Secretary of War Oliver today issued the following memorandum for the chief of staff:

He is authorized to secure the necessary transportation and to forward at once the first consignment by pack train or otherwise, utilizing the pack trails as far as possible. Many Indians as can be employed. An officer or reliable non-commissioned officer will be placed in charge of the supplies at Copper Center and will issue free of expense to the Indians and sell at cost and 25 per cent added to such as may wish to purchase, but are unable to obtain food otherwise, consulting with Mr. Clavenger, the missionary at Copper Center, as to the necessities involved. Careful record of condition, habits and resources of the Indians during this period will be kept and all report on the same furnished at the end of the detail by the officer in charge. These instructions should be telegraphed."

About a month later I heard from the same sources that Roosevelt would surely carry the state. Political wiseacres are now saying Roosevelt will carry the state by 75,000."

INCIDENT CLOSED.

Washington, Oct. 5.—One of the first results of the return of Secretary Hay to Washington was the closing of the incident growing out of the arrest of Secretary Gurney of the British embassy, at Lee, Mass.
